Cargo left inside vehicles

We do not charge for cargo already loaded inside the vehicle at the time of delivery. However, they will not be insured for loss or damage. We also request that hazardous materials be strictly excluded (ie: corrosive or flammable items).

Important information for preservation of your vehicle while in transit!!

All vehicles and goods are subject to mildew and corrosion when shipping from one type of climate to another. Even though we take many steps and precautions to limit this effect, we cannot guarantee that it does not happen. Here are some tips for preparing your vehicle for shipping.

- DO clean your car for all road debris, bugs and sand
- DO dry your car out well on the inside. Moisture can lead to mildew
- DO NOT spray your leather or vinyl interior with conditioners or moisturizers. They are natural products and will be the first ones to start the mildew process in an enclosed environment. If your car is already full of these products, try to wipe it off with soap and water. But remember to dry it out thoroughly.
- DO check radiator to make sure it has enough antifreeze coolant before shipping to a colder climate since frost could occur.
- DO spray or coat all metal screws that could be subject to corrosion. Liquid lithium grease on spray can or anti rust spray are inexpensive and will help prevent this from happening.
- DO ensure to lock or take away any loose parts or specialty objects from your car like ground effects, spoilers, fog lights. If you have broad mirrors just fold them back and take out the antennae if possible
- DO disable or disconnect alarm systems
- DO NOT fill up your gas tank. By law, we have to keep the gas level in all vehicles to a minimum during transport.

Disclaimer

Flex Export Inc. is not responsible for the following items:

- Damages to loose cargo that has been insufficiently packaged by customer

• Loss or damage to cargo or personal items located inside vehicles

• Damages due to climate conditions and extreme temperatures

• Flat tires, flat batteries, or any other form of problem that can arise on vehicles

• If for any reason a vehicle becomes inoperable at our warehouse which makes the packing more labor intensive, the customer will be subject to a $50 surcharge.
